Background: Brian Kemp

In Georgia, access to reproductive healthcare, including birth control and abortion care, has proven to be one of the key issues in campaigns up and down the ticket. NARAL Pro-Choice America currently ranks Georgia as a state with “severely restricted access” to reproductive health care due to the state’s current bans on abortion, biased counseling requirements, and mandatory delays on women seeing care.

Kemp’s record reveals his lack of compassion for women’s choices and shows just how much worse off Georgia will be if he is elected:

- Kemp wants to outlaw all abortion, with no exceptions for rape, incest, or the health of the woman.
- As Governor, Kemp pledged to “sign the toughest abortion laws in the country.”
- Kemp wants to overturn Roe v. Wade.

Abortion

Kemp believed abortion should be illegal with exceptions only “to prevent the death” of a woman, not in cases of rape or incest. Kemp filled out the following answers in a Georgia Life Alliance questionnaire. Asked “Do you believe abortion should be illegal?” Kemp checked “Yes.” Asked to choose which exceptions he would support to an abortion ban, Kemp only chose “to prevent the death of the mother,” not selecting the options for rape or incest exceptions. He made no mention of any exceptions to protect women who may suffer severe, long-term health problems if forced to carry a pregnancy to term. Georgia Right to Life endorsed Kemp in past elections due to his opposition to rape and incest exceptions to abortion bans. Georgia Right to Life endorsed Kemp for Secretary of State in 2010 because he “affirmed support for a Personhood Amendment to the Georgia constitution and opposition to abortion for any reason other than to save both mother and child.” Starting in 2009, Georgia Right to Life only endorsed candidates who would sign the GRTL PAC “Personhood Affirmation,” which stated that the candidate supported a Human Life Amendment to the Georgia Constitution, which would ban abortion with no exceptions for rape, incest, or the health of the woman. Georgia Right to Life praised Kemp as one of their “NO exceptions’ candidates elected in Georgia” writing, “GRTL ONLY endorses candidates that hold to a NO exceptions position on abortion in cases of rape and incest.” Christian Newswire, [11/4/10, via Nexis, Georgia Right to Life, accessed 10/4/18, Georgia Right to Life, accessed 10/4/18, Georgia Right to Life, 5/11/14]

Kemp vowed to “sign the toughest abortion laws in the country” as Governor. Kemp wrote on Facebook, “I back Mississippi’s ban on abortions after fifteen weeks and vow to sign the toughest abortion laws in the country as your next governor. If abortion rights activists want to sue me...bring it! I’ll fight for life at the Capitol and in the courtroom.” Facebook, [3/19/18; Kemp for Governor, accessed 10/4/18; Atlanta Journal-Constitution, 3/20/18]

Kemp: “I support a ‘Heartbeat Bill’ that outlaws abortions after six weeks.” In a statement Kemp said, “In fact, I am the only candidate for governor to signal support for the bill that was just passed in Iowa. The left calls it radical but it’s just common sense to me. As the father of three, I remember listening to the heartbeats of my girls. We were knitted together in our mother’s womb and protecting His craftsmanship at six weeks is certainly worth the inevitable courtroom battle.” Kemp for Governor, accessed [10/4/18]

Kemp wanted to undo the Roe and Doe Supreme Court decisions and outlined his plan to overturn Roe: “[W]e advance pro-life legislation, battle in the courtroom, and wait on the Supreme Court to overturn Roe v. Wade.” Kemp said in a statement, “I will fight to advance the pro-life movement and defend the unborn at every turn. We must always do the right thing – even in non-election years.” In the Georgia Life Alliance questionnaire, Kemp answered “yes” to the question “would you advocate for changing the Roe v. Wade and Doe v. Bolton decisions so that elected legislatures may once again protect unborn children by limiting or prohibiting abortion?” Kemp for Governor, accessed [10/4/18; Georgia Life Alliance 2018 questionnaire, accessed 10/4/18]

Kemp identified as “unapologetically pro-life” and said he “believes that life begins at conception.” Kemp for Governor, accessed [10/4/18]

Kemp pledged to review the Georgia Code to define an “unborn child” as “a person.” In a statement Kemp said, “Being pro-life is more than just protecting embryos. That’s why my administration will review the entire Georgia Code to ensure that all life – from conception to natural death is protected and treated equally under the law. By recognizing that an unborn child is a person, we will make it abundantly clear that Georgia values all people - regardless of age, race, mental status, or state or health.” Kemp for Governor, accessed [10/4/18]

Kemp pledged to “double down” on laws targeting abortion clinics. In a statement Kemp said, “Finally, as we advance pro-life legislation, battle in the courtroom, and wait on the Supreme Court to overturn Roe v. Wade, our state must double down on the application of pro-life laws that currently exist. Through the Department of Community Health, we can ensure that the letter – and spirit – of the law is being enforced at clinics across the state. As governor, I will make enforcement a priority.” Kemp for Governor, accessed [10/4/18]

Kemp supported the most extreme abortion bans across the country, including Iowa’s 6-week ban and Mississippi’s 15-week ban. Kemp said in a statement, “In fact, I am the only candidate for governor to signal support for the bill that was just passed in Iowa.” He also wrote on Facebook: “I back Mississippi’s ban on abortions after fifteen weeks and vow to sign the toughest abortion laws in the country as your next governor.” Kemp for Governor, accessed [10/4/18; Facebook, 3/19/18]

Kemp supported Georgia's 20-week abortion ban. Kemp wrote on Facebook, "As a pro-life Georgian, I applaud the Supreme Court's decision upholding the ban on abortions after twenty weeks. This is a huge victory for the pro-life movement and underscores our state's commitment to protecting the rights of the unborn." Kemp also indicated his support for Georgia's 20-week ban in the Georgia Life Alliance questionnaire. Facebook, [7/19/18; Georgia Life Alliance 2018 questionnaire, accessed 10/4/18]

Anti-choice groups Family Policy Alliance and Georgia Life Alliance endorsed Kemp for Governor in 2018. Kemp filled out a questionnaire attesting to his extreme positions on abortion for the Georgia Life Alliance. Kemp aimed to make Georgia more hostile to abortion rights as Governor. Kemp tweeted, "As governor, I will significantly move the needle on pro-life legislation in our state and fight against the left to make sure these laws stand. I've taken on Obama, Abrams, & groups funded by George Soros before and I am ready to defeat them again." Kemp posted on Facebook: "If elected, Abrams will work to repeal the pro-life legislation I backed in the Senate. As governor, I will make Georgia the safest state in the nation for the unborn." Twitter, [7/3/18; Facebook, 3/29/18]

Kemp opposed embryonic stem cell research. Kemp responded "Yes" to the question "Would you vote for measures to protect living human embryos from being used for experiments that would harm or kill them, including embryonic stem cell research regardless of the method used to create the embryo?" in the Georgia Life Alliance questionnaire. Affordable Care Act And Medicaid

Kemp called the Affordable Care Act "an absolute disaster," "unconstitutional" and "a complete failure" and called for its replacement. Kemp wrote on Facebook, "Obamacare is an absolute disaster and it needs to be repealed immediately. We need a free market replacement that puts Georgia patients – not government bureaucrats or special interests – first." Georgia Health News asked Kemp if the Affordable Care Act was unconstitutional, to which he replied, "Obamacare is unconstitutional, but worse, it has been a complete failure. I fully support AG Carr's efforts and know that the real solutions to these pressing issues are found in our state capitals, not in Washington, D.C." Facebook, [8/14/17; Georgia Health News, 9/5/18]

"ABRAMS: The ACA is absolutely constitutional, as affirmed many years ago by the Supreme Court of the United States. I firmly stand against any action seeking to declare the ACA unconstitutional." Georgia Health News, [9/5/18]

Kemp opposed Medicaid expansion. When asked about expanding Medicaid, Kemp told Georgia Health News, "Medicaid costs too much and fails to deliver for hardworking Georgians. Taking money away from public safety and education to expand up a failed government program will only make things worse. Stacey Abrams sees Medicaid expansion as a step towards a single-payer health care system that puts bureaucrats — not doctors — in charge of the patient's medical decisions. Her radical plan will literally bankrupt our state while making it harder for hard-working Georgians to receive the care they need.” The Telegraph, [9/14/18; Georgia Health News, 9/5/18]

“ABRAMS: Expanding Medicaid is one of my top priorities. 33 states, led by governors across the political spectrum, have taken the only justifiable approach to health care and expanded Medicaid already. But not Georgia. Our Republican state leaders refuse to act, needlessly turning down federal dollars while Georgia sends money to Washington. Refusing to expand Medicaid is an irresponsible act that denies coverage for hundreds of thousands of vulnerable Georgians who need health coverage, damaging our health infrastructure and our rural health system to its core.” Georgia Health News, [9/14/18]

Sexual Assault and #MeToo

The Democratic Party of Georgia has released several ads attacking Kemp for his “mishandling of sexual assault claims” relating to Massage Envy. The ads mention that the former Massage Envy owner Patrick Greco hosted a fundraiser for Kemp. All On Georgia, [9/12/18]
