

Background: Anti-Choice 2018 Candidates

This memo outlines background information NARAL Pro-Choice America's research team has gathered on anti-choice House, Senate and gubernatorial candidates running in the 2018 election. In particular, this information highlights the high number of conservative candidates who take extreme anti-choice positions, such as supporting abortion bans while opposing exceptions for survivors of rape, incest or to protect a woman's life. The information in this memo is not reflective of the candidates' complete record. This memo is based solely on publicly accessible information.

House Candidates

Rep. Don Bacon (NE-02)

Don Bacon believed abortion should not be legal under any circumstances, including to save women's lives and in cases of rape and incest. On the Nebraska Right to Life 2016 candidate survey, Bacon responded to the question "under what circumstances, if any, do you believe abortion should be legal?" with "in no case." In response to this question, Bacon also indicated he did not support legal abortion "in cases of rape and incest" or to save women's lives. Nebraska Right to Life noted that Bacon had "comments on file" regarding his opposition to any legal abortion and his opposition to abortion to save the life of women, though they did not report the comments. Bacon pledged to support a constitutional amendment to ban abortion. On the 2016 National Pro-Life Alliance candidate survey, Bacon responded yes to the question, "Will you support an amendment to the U.S. Constitution banning abortion except to save the life of the mother?" Other candidates indicated their support for rape and incest exceptions in their answers to this question. Bacon pledged to support judicial nominees who “will uphold the constitutional right to life of every human person, born and unborn.” On the 2016 National Pro-Life Alliance candidate survey, Bacon responded yes to the question “Will you support nominees to the United States Supreme Court and the lower federal courts who will uphold the constitutional right to life of every human person, born and unborn.” National Pro-Life Alliance candidates Survey, 2016 Federal Candidates, Region 2, accessed [5/10/18]

Bacon pledged to support legislation to remove “federal courts jurisdiction” over abortion issues. On the 2016 National Pro-Life Alliance survey, Bacon responded yes to the question, “Will you support legislation which, under Article III, Section 2 of the U.S. Constitution, would remove from the federal courts jurisdiction over the question of abortion?” National Pro-Life Alliance candidates Survey, 2016 Federal Candidates, Region 2, accessed [5/10/18]

Bacon pledged to support a bill to define life as beginning “at the moment of conception.” On the 2016 National Pro-Life Alliance survey, Bacon answered yes to the question, “Would you support and cosponsor a Life at Conception Act defining that life begins at the moment of conception thereby resolving for all time, as stated by the Supreme Court in Roe v. Wade, “the difficult question of when life begins?” National Pro-Life Alliance candidates Survey, 2016 Federal Candidates, Region 2, accessed [5/10/18]

Bacon co-sponsored H.R. 490, a ban on abortions after the detection of a fetal heartbeat, which did not include exceptions for rape or incest. Bacon additionally praised the bill, writing on Facebook that he was “I am extremely proud to play a role in the fight for the unborn” by supporting this bill. In a press release in support of H.R. 490, Bacon said, “I will work tirelessly to advance the rights of the unborn to ensure a culture of life throughout our great nation.” Bacon also tweeted his support of H.R. 490. Rep. Andy Barr (KY-6)

Barr opposed rape and incest exceptions to abortion bans, only supporting exceptions for the life of the woman. Kentucky.com reported, “After days of refusing to answer a question about when abortion should be legal, Republican Andy Barr acknowledged Thursday that he believes the practice is acceptable only when the life of a mother is in danger. After a campaign rally in Frankfort, Barr was reminded that he told the Herald-Leader in 2010 that there should be only one exception to a ban on abortion. “Other than when the life of the mother is at stake, I believe Congress should do all that it can to protect the life of every human being — born or unborn," Barr answered in a Herald-Leader questionnaire two years ago. The newspaper specifically asked, "In what instances do you think abortion should be legal?" On Thursday, Barr said his stance has not changed on the issue since 2010, when the Lexington attorney lost to Democratic U.S. Rep. Ben Chandler by 648 votes. "No, I haven't changed my mind since 2010," he said. " In 2012 The Richmond Register reported, "For a time, Barr refused to answer questions about whether he makes any exception to his opposition to abortion. Ultimately, Barr said he had only one exception – the life of the mother, excluding rape and incest." Kentucky.com, [11/01/12; The Richmond Register, 11/9/12, via Nexis]

Rod Blum Described Himself As “Pro-Life” And Supported An “Incremental Process” To Ban Abortion. Blum said in a 2013 interview with Caffeinated Thoughts, a “Christian Conservative” outlet, that he was “pro-life from conception to the cradle to the grave. And when I talk about pro-life on the campaign trail, I also mention that it’s more than the protection of the unborn, it’s the protection of the born, and by that I mean our elderly.” Caffeinated Thoughts asked, “In terms of bills outside of a personhood amendment or a personhood bill, would you be supportive of other pro-life legislation that moves the ball forward toward that goal?” Blum replied, “Yes. I think this is going to be an incremental process, as we go back to negotiation and the nature of government, so yes, incrementally, I think we need to keep trying to push that football toward our goal.” VIDEO: Caffeinated Thoughts, [10/10/13, via YouTube, starts 11:20]

In 2015, Rod Blum Co-Sponsored And Voted For The Pain-Capable Unborn Child Protection Act, Which Would Ban Abortion After 20 Weeks. In reference to the bill, Blum stated, “As the father of five children, I understand the precious joy children bring to the world. I firmly believe it is my responsibility to protect the sanctity of life and to help those who cannot assist themselves...I cannot imagine why the opponents to this bill support permitting abortionists to inflict pain on an unborn baby who has the ability to feel.” [Press release from the office of Rep. Rod Blum, 5/15/15, via Nexis]

Blum Voted Against Adding Exceptions To The 2015 20-Week Ban That Would Have Allowed Abortions In Cases To Protect The “Short-Or- Long-Term Health” Of Women. The Gazette wrote, “Voting 181 for and 246 against, the House on Wednesday defeated a Democratic attempt to add a broad health exemption to HR 36 (above), enabling women to legally have an abortion after 20 weeks of pregnancy if it is necessary to protect their short- or long-term health. This went beyond the underlying bill’s narrowly drawn exemptions for instances of rape and incest or to save the life of the mother. A yes vote backed the motion, which, had it prevailed, would have immediately amended the bill.” [The Gazette, 5/17/15 via Nexis]

Rod Blum Voted For The Born-Alive Abortion Survivors Protection Act. The bill imposed penalties of up to five years in prison if healthcare providers “failed to immediately transport to a hospital an infant with certain of life after an abortion attempt.” In response to this bill, Blum said “We must ensure that children born alive during abortions receive equivalent medical treatment as babies who are born in hospitals... And common sense dictates that your tax dollars should not go to Planned Parenthood as Congress investigates their selling of babies’ organs -- that money should be directed to other providers of women’s health services like community health centers.” [The Gazette, 9/20/15 via Nexis, Waterloo Courier, 9/19/15, via Nexis]

Rod Blum Voted For The No Taxpayer Funding For Abortion Act Twice. The 2017 bill “makes permanent the prohibition on the use of federal funds, including funds in the budget of the District of Columbia, for abortion or health coverage that includes abortion.” Congress.gov, [1/22/15, HR 7 final vote results for roll call 45, 1/22/15, Congress.gov, 1/13/17, HR7 final vote results for roll call 65, 1/24/17]

Rod Blum Voted For The Conscience Protection Act of 2016 And Against The Zika Exception To The Bill. The Gazette wrote “Voting 245 for and 182 against, the House on Wednesday passed a bill (S 304) that would make it legal for employers, medical personnel and other parties to impede women’s access to abortions on the basis of religious beliefs or moral convictions. Employers, for example, could cite religious objections to justify their refusal to allow company health plans to cover employees’ abortions. The bill establishes a right to file civil lawsuits to uphold conscience-based objections to abortion.” Congressional Quarterly wrote, “Opponents of the measure say it would block access to health care services for women, arguing it is not appropriate for institutions to claim a “conscience” exemption and to refuse to provide women with medically necessary information and referrals.” Blum also voted against a Zika exception to this bill, which would have stopped the Conscience Protection Act “from applying to reproductive care that helps pregnant women prepare for or respond to the Zika virus.” Congress.gov, accessed [10/24/17, S304 final vote results for roll call 443, 7/13/16, The Gazette, 7/17/16, via Nexis, Congressional Quarterly’s House Action Reports, 7/8/16, via Nexis]

Rod Blum Has Voted To Defund Planned Parenthood Multiple Times. According to EMILY's List, Blum voted to defund Planned Parenthood four times in 2015 and once more in 2016. Blum's vote for the American Health Care Act would have also defunded Planned Parenthood. Emily's List Press Release, 1/16/16, via Nexis, Government Publishing Office, [6/7/17]

In Response To His Votes To Defund Planned Parenthood, Blum Said "Common Sense Dictates That Your Tax Dollars Should Not Go To Planned Parenthood As Congress Investigates Their Selling Of Babies' Organs." Waterloo Courier, [9/19/15]

Rod Blum Voted To Allow States To Deny Medicaid Funding To Planned Parenthood. The Gazette wrote, "the House on Tuesday passed a GOP-drafted bill (HR 3495) allowing states to deny Medicaid funding to Planned Parenthood and other medical providers, including doctors, in response to their abortion services. This would repeal a requirement in law that Medicaid patients be allowed to receive care from any qualified provider of their choice. Critics said the bill's denying Medicaid reimbursements to selected doctors and clinics would take away this right of free choice. Under Roe v. Wade, abortion is legal with certain exceptions, and under the Hyde Amendment, federal funds cannot be used to pay for it. This bill is a reaction to the recent release of secretly recorded videos in which Planned Parenthood officials discuss the provision of fetal tissue to medical research." [The Gazette, 10/4/15 via Nexis]

Rod Blum Voted To Deny Planned Parenthood Family Planning Funding Through Title X. The Gazette wrote, "The House on Wednesday nullified, 230 for and 188 against, a rule affirming Planned Parenthood's eligibility to receive Title X money for family planning. Some states have tried to deny the funding because abortions are provided. Critics noted that Planned Parenthood does not use federal funds for abortion services." [The Gazette, 2/19/17 via Nexis]

Rod Blum Voted To Establish A Select House Committee To Investigate Planned Parenthood In Response To Center For Medical Progress's Videos. Rod Blum Questioned Cecile Richards At A Congressional Hearing Concerning The Leaked Planned Parenthood Footage, Focusing On Funding For Abortions. Blum asked Richards, "Do your providers make money on abortion services ... your individual affiliated offices, do they make money providing abortions?" Blum also asked, "Are you saying today, with 100 percent surety, that not one dime of taxpayer money is used to provide abortions? I mean, yes or no, 100 percent surety, because that is against the law." According to the Waterloo Courier, "Blum noted both Richards and himself have served as chief executives for public companies and questioned her understanding of overhead. He asked whether salaries and other costs, particularly those that go to abortion services, are covered by taxpayers.” He also asked “about the cost of providing an abortion.” Waterloo Courier, [10/30/15]

Blum Has Opposed Protections For Women In The Workplace And For Victims Of Domestic Violence And Sexual Assault

Blum Voted For And Co-Sponsored A Bill That Allowed Discrimination Against LGBTQ People, Unmarried Pregnant Women, And Unmarried People Who Have Sex. The First Amendment Defense Act “would have kept the government from penalizing people or businesses for acting in accordance with their religious beliefs that marriage is between one man and one woman.” The bill also prohibited discrimination against those acting on their beliefs that “sexual relations are properly reserved to such a marriage.” According to the Gazette, “the language was general enough the American Civil Liberties Union said it could allow employers to discriminate against single mothers or anyone who has sex outside of marriage.” Iowa Democratic Party Press Release, 7/21/15 via Nexis, Congress.gov, accessed [2/22/18, The Gazette, 11/6/16, via Nexis, The Gazette, 10/29/16, via Nexis]

I believe that right is protected by the law in the 1963 Equal Pay Act that has already been passed, it’s already a law on our books. An

Rod Blum Voted Against A Bill That Would Protect “The Medical Privacy of Women, Including Rape And Incest Victims, With Respect To Their Choice Or Use Of Health Insurance Policies.” The bill would have amended HR7, which “would ban taxpayer-subsidized insurance policies that cover abortion from the Affordable Care Act’s state and federal marketplaces” to protect women’s medical privacy. As the Gazette reported, “Supporters of the motion said privacy issues could arise as insurance companies seek to document a woman’s claim of eligibility for taxpayer-funded abortion coverage as a result of being raped. The Hyde Amendment bars federal funding of abortions except in cases of rape or incest or if the procedure is necessary to save the mother’s life.” Blum did vote for HR7. Rod Blum Voted Against A Motion That Would Protect Gender Discrimination By Insurance Companies And Applied “Anti-Abortion Provisions” To Any ACA Replacement. The Gazette wrote, “the House on Tuesday defeated a Democratic motion that sought to ensure that HR 7 (above) would not result in women paying higher premiums than men for the same policies in ACA marketplaces. Under an ACA provision that took effect in 2014, insurance companies are prohibited from discriminating on the basis of policyholders’ gender or health status. The anti-abortion provisions of the underlying bill would apply to any law that replaces the Affordable Care Act.” [The Gazette, 1/29/17, via Nexis]

Blum Voted To Overturn A D.C. Law Banning Employer Discrimination Against Employees Based On Their Reproductive Health Care Decisions. The Gazette wrote, “The House on Thursday passed, 228 for and 192 against, a measure (HJ Res 43) to kill a District of Columbia law making it illegal for employers to discriminate against workers on the basis of their decisions on reproductive health care. In Louisiana, Jindal led the charge to pass the Louisiana Marriage and Conscience Act through the state legislature. The Marriage and Conscience Act, an offshoot of the contentious bills passed in Indiana and Arkansas, explicitly enables businesses to discriminate against LGBT Americans by denying services to customers or benefits to employees based on their opposition to same sex marriage.” [Iowa Democratic Party Press Release, 9/3/15, via Nexis]

Blum Believed That Same-Sex Marriage Should Be Left To The States. On the show Caffeinated Thoughts, Blum said “As I often say, people ask me how I stand on that and I said well, I’m married to Karen, who happens to be a female, so obviously I believe in marriage between a man and a woman. Ultimately, I don’t think the government belongs in marriage, I think that’s between two people and their God and I would, I would like to see states, I’d like to, it would be a state issue, rather than a federal issue. Blum’s Other Controversies

Rod Blum Walked Out Of An Interview, Where He Was Surrounded By Children, After Being Asked Why He Was Prescreening Constituents Who Wanted To Attend His Town Hall. After a reporter asked Blum about his staff checking IDs and prescreening attendees to ensure that they lived in Iowa’s first district, Blum said “I don’t represent all Iowans – I represent the First District of Iowa”. After the reporter pressed him by asking “Would you still take donations from a Republican in Iowa City?” Blum stood, removed his microphone, and said “This is ridiculous. This is ridiculous. Blum “Violated House Ethics Rules” By Not Disclosing His Ownership Of A Company That Helped Businesses Hide FDA Warning Letters Of Safety Violations. The Associated Press reported, “A congressman from Iowa violated House ethics rules by failing to disclose his ownership role in a new company, a mysterious outfit that featured his top federal staffer in a false testimonial promoting its services, an Associated Press review shows. Rep. Rod Blum was one of two directors of the Tin Moon Corp. when the internet marketing company was incorporated in May 2016, as the Republican was serving his first term, a business filing shows. Among other services, Tin Moon promises to help companies cited for federal food and drug safety violations bury their Food and Drug Administration warning letters below positive internet search results... Tin Moon’s website on Tuesday removed an official photo of Blum wearing his congressional pin and changed his title from CEO to “majority shareholder” after AP raised questions about ethics rules. Tin Moon is based in the same Dubuque office as a construction software company Blum owns, Digital Canal. Late Wednesday, the company also removed an online video testimonial showing “John Ferland representing Digital Canal” and claiming to be a satisfied customer. Ferland — who is actually chief of staff in Blum’s congressional office and has never worked for Digital Canal — claimed that Tin Moon is “saving us thousands of dollars every month, keeping our traffic and leads higher,” and implored: “From one business owner to another, I suggest you take a look at Tin Moon.” Blum didn’t list his positions as director or CEO of Tin Moon on his personal financial disclosure for 2016, despite House rules that require members to identify all corporate positions they held during any part of the year even if they’re unpaid.” Blum claimed the lack of disclosure was an “administrative oversight.” The Associated Press, [2/22/18]

Under Karen Handel’s Leadership As Senior Vice President For Public Policy, The Susan G. Komen Foundation Eliminated Around $600,000 Worth Of Grants To Planned Parenthood For Breast Cancer Screenings “For Low-Income, Uninsured, And Under-Insured Women” And Education In 2012. Komen had provided $680,000 to Planned Parenthood in 2011 and $580,000 in 2010. Handel joined the Susan G. Komen foundation in April 2011. After a backlash, the grants were restored, and Handel stepped down. New York Times, [11/8/12; CBS Miami, 2/2/12; The Atlantic, 2/1/12; Jezebel, 1/31/12]

In 2012, Planned Parenthood Reported That Komen Grants Had Covered 170,000 Breast Cancer Screenings And 6,400 Mammogram Referrals Over The Previous Five Years. The Komen grant funding reportedly went to 19 Planned Parenthood affiliates across the country. In 2015, Komen Reported Providing $465,000 In Grants To 11 Planned Parenthoods For “Breast Health Outreach And Breast Screenings For Low-Income, Uninsured Or Under-Insured

Individuals.” This included “clinical breast exams and referrals for mammograms if needed.”Susan G. Komen, [7/15/15]

In Her Resignation Letter From Komen, Handel Discussed Her Involvement In And Support For The Decision To Cut Planned Parenthood Grants: “I Openly Acknowledge My Role In The Matter And Continue To Believe Our Decision Was The Best One For Komen’s Future And The Women We Serve.” Handel believed cutting the grants to Planned Parenthood “would have indeed enabled Komen to deliver even greater community impact.” The Daily Beast, [2/7/12]

News Outlets Such As The Atlantic, CNN, Jezebel, And The Huffington Post Attributed The Decision For Komen To Stop Providing Grants To Planned Parenthood To Handel. CNN reported Handel was “the driving force behind the foundation’s decision not to renew parts of its longstanding partnership with Planned Parenthood.” The Huffington Post ran an article with the headline “Karen Handel, Susan G. Komen’s Anti-Abortion VP, Drove Decision To Defund Planned Parenthood.” CNN, [2/7/12; The Atlantic, 2/1/12; Jezebel, 1/31/12]; The Huffington Post, 2/5/12]

The Huffington Post Quoted A Source Inside The Komen Foundation Who Said “Karen Handel Was The Prime Instigator Of This Effort” To Stop Providing Grants To Planned Parenthood. The anonymous source said Handel “personally came up with investigation criteria,” which Komen used to justify its decision to cut the grants. “She said, ‘If we just say it’s about investigations, we can defund Planned Parenthood and no one can blame us for being political.’” The source also said that Handel often brought up right-wing protests against Komen for its Planned Parenthood funding: “Komen’s been dealing with the Planned Parenthood issue for years, and you know, some right-wing groups would organize a protest or send out a mailing every now and then, but it was on a low simmer...What Karen’s been doing for the past six months is ratcheting up the issue with leadership. Every time someone would even mention a protest, she would magnify it, pump it up, exaggerate it. She’s the one that kept driving this issue.” The Huffington Post,[2/5/12]

The Huffington Post Reviewed Internal Komen Foundation Emails That “Confirm The Source’s Description Of Handel’s Sole ‘Authority’ In Crafting And Implementing The Planned Parenthood Policy.” The Huffington Post, [2/5/12]

Handel Downplayed The Backlash To Komen Cutting Planned Parenthood Grants As “PR Spin” Karen Handel Described “The Great Outcry That Somehow Women Were Going To Be Left In The Dirt” When Komen Cut Its Planned Parenthood Grants “Nothing More Than Planned Parenthood PR Spin.” Handel also said that “the idea that women’s rights equals abortion rights” was “truly liberal, pro-abortion bias within the press,” which she thought was evident in coverage of the Komen controversy. World Magazine, [3/24/12]

Handel Criticized Planned Parenthood’s Response To Komen Cutting Its Grants: “Komen Was Simply A Breast Cancer Organization Facing Mafia-Style Shakedown Tactics By Planned Parenthood Holding Komen Hostage.” Handel called Planned Parenthood’s response “vicious full-on assault across multiple channels. It wasn’t just in the press. It was against Komen’s donors. Corporate contributors to Komen were seeing their Facebooks completely raided. They were being picketed. CEOs were getting phone calls and emails. Twitter exploded with some of the most vile and vicious things that you can imagine." World Magazine, [3/24/12]

In Her 2010 Gubernatorial Campaign, Handel Pledged To "Eliminate" Grants Like Those Awarded By Fulton County To "Planned Parenthood For Breast And Cervical Cancer Screening, As Well As A Healthy Babies Initiative." Handel wrote, "During my time as Chairman of Fulton County, there were federal and state pass-through grants that were awarded to Planned Parenthood for breast and cervical cancer screening, as well as a Healthy Babies Initiative. The grant was authorized, regulated, administered and distributed through the State of Georgia. Because of the criteria, regulations and parameters of the grant, Planned Parenthood was the only eligible vendor approved to meet the state criteria. Additionally, none of the services in any way involved abortions or abortion-related services. Yvette Herrell (NM-02)

Herrell was the primary sponsor of a 20-week abortion ban in the New Mexico legislature, which did not include rape, incest or health exceptions. The New Mexican reported: “The sponsor of House Bill 220, which would ban abortions after 20 weeks of pregnancy except when a doctor deems the procedure medically necessary, emphasized it would not prohibit all abortions but curb the abortion of what she described as viable human beings. ‘This is a constitutional right for these 5-month-old babies,’ said Rep. Yvette Herrell, R-Alamogordo.” Anti-choice group Pro-Life Witness wrote, “It is encouraging to see pro-life state legislators sponsor solid no exceptions legislation that will protect pre-born babies in the womb. Both Senator Bill Sharer (R) from Farmington and Rep. Yvette Herrell (R) from Alamogordo have tightened up their late term abortion ban bills that DO NOT contain exceptions for rape and incest nor the subjective psychological ‘health’ exception in them. Rep. Rod Montoya (R) from Farmington is sponsoring the Infant Born Alive Protection Act. Herrell co-sponsored a bill that banned abortion for rape victims as it “equated termination of a pregnancy” caused by rape with “tampering with evidence.” The New Mexican reported: “An abortion bill introduced in the state House of Representatives by a Carlsbad Republican caused a political uproar in New Mexico and got some national notoriety Thursday -- though the bill's sponsor says it's all a misunderstanding. Rep. Cathrynn Brown's House Bill 206, as written, would subject a victim of rape or incest to possible felony prosecution for obtaining an abortion. It equated termination of a pregnancy in these situations with ‘tampering with evidence.’ Her bill says, ‘Tampering with evidence shall include procuring or facilitating an abortion, or compelling or coercing another to obtain an abortion, of a fetus that is the result of criminal sexual penetration or incest with the intent to destroy evidence of the crime.’ But Brown says her intent is not to go after rape and incest victims, but to prosecute rapists and incest perpetrators who coerce women into having abortions. She said the mistake occurred during the drafting of the bill, and she's working on a substitute to make it clear the proposed law wouldn't apply to the victims.” The New Mexican, [1/25/13]

Herrell sponsored a 20-week abortion ban that originally required rape survivors to provide an affidavit proving they were raped and that the rape was reported to police in order to receive an abortion. Jezebel reported, “And so they did, getting some obliging legislators to sponsor two bills, either of which would be devastating on its own. HB 390, sponsored by Rep. Yvette Herrell of Alamogordo, would ban abortion after 20 weeks, with exceptions for rape, incest, and life endangerment. (Some of the original language of the bill, which was edited out in committee, was even worse. It specified that late-term abortion could only be obtained if the woman proved she was really, actually raped: ‘The woman must present to the special hospital board an affidavit that she has been raped and that the rape has been or will be reported to an appropriated law enforcement official.’” Jezebel, [3/4/15]

Rep. Tom MacArthur (NJ-03)

MacArthur said, "I am pro-life and believe in exceptions for cases of rape, incest, and if the mother's life is in jeopardy. I also understand that good people can disagree on this issue, and our common ground should be working together to reduce the number of unplanned pregnancies," he said. MacArthur’s foundation, In God’s Hands Charitable Foundation, made the contribution to the 1st Choice Women’s Health Center in 2012, according to the foundation’s tax forms. The nonprofit operates crisis pregnancy centers in Morristown, Jersey City, Newark and Montclair. According to the group’s website, the clinics provide free pregnancy tests and options counseling, ultrasound tests to confirm pregnancies, emergency contraception information, information about abortion “risks and procedures,” select sexually-transmitted infection screenings, counseling about healthy relationships, and post-abortion support.” Burlington County News, [9/17/14]

MacArthur was criticized at a town hall for drafting language that could make rape a preexisting condition, but wouldn’t answer questions. He called the questions “hysteria.” MacArthur was co-author of the MacArthur-Meadows amendment, which would have allowed states to roll back protections for patients with preexisting conditions. As ThinkProgress noted, “many worry that survivors of sexual trauma — as well as those who have been treated for a whole host of gender-related illnesses, such as postpartum depression and cesarean sections, may once again face discrimination in the form of higher insurance costs.” ThinkProgress, [5/11/17]

Danny Tarkanian (NV-03)

PolitiFact reported in 2016 that Tarkanian opposed abortion even in cases of rape and incest.

PolitiFact found Jacky Rosen's statement that "Danny Tarkanian ... wants to defund Planned Parenthood and would outlaw a woman's right to choose, even in cases of rape or incest" to be true. PolitiFact reported: "Tarkanian has consistently said he'd support removing federal funding from Planned Parenthood and that he opposed abortion with the sole exception if the pregnancy threatens the life of the mother. Most recently, he answered a pre-2016 primary voter guide saying he would support defunding Planned Parenthood and support legislation "to protect the right to life of every person from conception to natural death," with an exception if it's necessary to save the life of the mother." Rep. Ann Wagner (MO-02)

Wagner only supported exceptions to abortion bans to protect the life of a woman, not for cases of rape or incest. The St. Louis Dispatch Reported, “One of the exceptions in the 20-week abortion ban, as written, is in cases of rape or incest. Rep. Ann Wagner, R-Ballwin, was among those who oppose those exceptions. She said she supports exceptions only when a procedure after 20 weeks threatens the life of the mother. Wagner's proposal drew opposition from moderate Republicans in what Wagner agreed was a spirited debate behind closed doors of the 246-member House Republican caucus. Wagner, a member of House leadership, said in an interview that, if necessary, she will vote for the bill with the rape and incest exception in it. “I support the bill and, in fact, I believe that a 20-week-old baby that feels pain and recognizes the sound of its own mother's voice at that age should not be aborted, and that the only exception that I support is life of the mother,” she said. “We are working on some of the details on it...I want to save 20-week-old babies that feel pain. However we get there, I will support it.” St. Louis Post-Dispatch, [1/22/15]

Wagner encouraged Republican House leadership to pursue an abortion ban without rape and incest exceptions. The National Journal reported, “Although McCarthy's public optimism belied the tension behind closed doors, it was clear leaders would have to tweak, if not not fully abandon, the bill to move forward. There were three options: Get rid of all exception language other than allowing the late-term abortion if the life of the mother is at risk; remove the reporting requirement and include only exceptions for rape, incest, and the life of the mother; or pull the bill entirely....In the meeting, the decision was made to try the first route, one that had been espoused by Rep. Ann Wagner and other members at the morning conference meeting.” The Atlantic reported, “Rep. Ann Wagner pushed leaders to remove every exception other than cases when the life of the mother is at stake, according to member sources, but doing so could have alienated more centrists. Others wanted leaders to simply remove the clause mandating reporting rape to the authorities, but that could have pushed away the party's activists." National Review reported, "Wagner argued against including the rape and incest exceptions at all, a position similar to the one Franks defended when he made the damaging gaffe." National Journal, 1/22/15, via Nexis, The Atlantic, [1/21/15, National Review,

Other Republicans opposed the bill for having too narrow of a rape exception, since it required women to report rapes to law enforcement; Wagner supported removing it entirely and moving the ban forward with no rape exception. The National Review reported, "Several House Republicans -- most prominently Representatives Renee Ellmers (N.C.), Jackie Walorski (Ind.), and Ann Wagner (Mo.) -- complained about the bill. Ellmers said that holding an early vote on it would alienate young voters, even though polling indicates they are the age group most in favor of it. All of them objected to the provision of the bill allowing late-term abortions for women who reported rapes to law enforcement. They wanted a broader rape exception, although Wagner, bizarrely, said she would also be satisfied if there were no rape exception at all." The Atlantic reported on the split in the Republican caucus under the headline "GOP Leaders Pull Abortion Bill After Revolt By Women, Moderates," pointing out that Wagner was on the extreme side of the split by opposing any rape exception. The Jackson City Patriot reported, “Walberg called opposition to abortion a “moral absolute.” He never disagreed with Right to Life of Michigan, leader of the state's anti-abortion lobby, on a legislative vote in 16 years in the state House. Walberg says abortion should be illegal with no exceptions for rape, incest or the health of the mother. ‘The only exception I would give in very, very rare cases -- underline ‘rare’ -- is for the life of the mother,’ Walberg said. ‘Not the health of the mother. Rep. David Young (IA-03)

In 2013, Young emphasized his opposition to rape and incest exceptions to abortion bans. The Daily Times Herald wrote, “A spokesperson for Republican U.S. Senate candidate David Young says he believes abortion should only be a legal option in cases where the life of the pregnant mother is in jeopardy. Heather Swift, the communications director for the candidate, a former chief of staff to U.S. Sen. Charles Grassley, R-Iowa, said this has been Young’s long-standing position on abortion policy. However, it differs from comments Young made in an interview last month with The Daily Times Herald in which he repeatedly advocated legalized abortion for women who have been victims of rape and incest.” Daily Times Herald, [8/12/13]

Young pledged to support a constitutional amendment to ban abortion. On the 2016 and 2014 National Pro-Life Alliance candidate surveys, Young responded yes to the question, “Will you support an amendment to the U.S. Constitution banning abortion except to save the life of the mother?” Other candidates indicated their support for rape and incest exceptions in their answers to this question. Senate Candidates

Sen. Dean Heller (NV-Sen)

As A Congressional Candidate, Heller Said He Was Pro-Choice

In 2006, Heller Said He Supported “A Woman’s Right To Choose Abortion,” Which He Said Was “The Conservative Position.” Heller said, “I’m a Mormon and I teach Sunday school every week, but I do back a woman’s right to choose abortion. It is the conservative position.” [The Associated Press State & Local Wire, 6/18/11 via Nexis]

Heller Changed His Stance On Abortion When Running For The Senate

In 2011, Heller Said He Was “Pro-Life” And Opposed Federal Funding For Abortion. Heller was appointed to the U.S. Senate in 2011 and sought reelection in 2012. After his appointment, the Associated Press reported that “Sen. Dean Heller’s stance on abortion would appear to have changed completely from the congressional candidate who stated five years ago that he supported a woman’s right to have an abortion.” Heller said: “I was probably more libertarian when I was back in the state. I came here to Washington D.C., and there were certain votes that had to be cast. A couple of those votes, of course, had to do with the federal funding of abortions. I didn’t support it. And that being the case, it became more clear that was my position.” [The Associated Press State & Local Wire, 6/18/11 via Nexis]

Heller Said Roe V. Wade Was “A Court Issue, Not A Legislative Issue” And Would Not Say Whether Or Not He Supported Overturning It. In full, Heller said, “I don’t spend much time worrying about that because I don’t believe there will ever be legislation that’s going to determine this issue in the future... This is something that will be decided by the courts and so it’s nothing I see myself getting involved in. It’s a court issue, not a legislative issue.” [The Associated Press State & Local Wire, 6/18/11 via Nexis]

Heller Voted For And Defended The Blunt Amendment, Which Would Have Allowed Insurers And Employers To Refuse To Provide Contraceptive Coverage

Heller Voted For The Blunt Amendment In 2012. According to a statement by NARAL Pro-Choice America condemning Heller for this vote, the Blunt Amendment “would have allowed corporations and insurance companies to refuse to cover birth control and other essential health benefits, including maternity care, HIV/AIDS treatment, and cancer screening.” [NARAL Pro-Choice America, 3/1/12, via Nexis]

When Voting For The Blunt Amendment, Heller Defended The State Of Contraception Access Prior To The Affordable Care Act: “All We Are Trying To Revert To Is The Law Of The Land Today... No One Is Complaining Today That The Current Law Is Bad.” Heller continued, “This country spends billions on allowing for free access of contraception. Go to any health clinic and that access is available.” He also said that complaints about the Blunt amendment were “campaign rhetoric.” The Associated Press State & Local Wire, 3/1/12, via Nexis; Real Clear Politics, [3/1/12]

Heller On The Blunt Amendment: “In No Way Would This Amendment Deny Or Interfere With A Woman’s Access To Contraception.” Heller called the idea that allowing businesses to drop contraceptive coverage would “interfere with” access was “an absurd allegation.” He said that the Blunt Amendment was “about one thing and one thing only; whether the federal government can force religious organizations to provide a service that violates their faith.” Senator Heller press release, [3/1/12]

Heller Supported The 20-Week Abortion Ban

In 2015, Heller “Supported Invoking Cloture On The Motion To Proceed” On A Abortion Ban. The bill banned abortions after 20 weeks with exceptions for rape, incest, and the life of the mother. Senator Heller press release, 9/24/15, via Nexis; The Washington Times, [9/22/15]

Heller Opposed The Paycheck Fairness Act

Heller Repeatedly Voted Against The Paycheck Fairness Act, Calling It A “War On Free Enterprise.” Heller voted against pay equality legislation while in the House of Representatives in 2009 and the Senate in 2012. In 2012, Heller was the only Republican to speak about the bill on the Senate floor, where he said, “Let me be clear: pay discrimination based on gender is unacceptable... Despite the political rhetoric around here, everyone agrees on this fact. The question is, will the Paycheck Fairness Act actually address workplace inequality? And the simple answer is no.” Heller also called the Paycheck Fairness Act a bill “designed for press releases” and said, “unfortunately, the only winners under this legislation would be trial lawyers.” New York Times, [6/5/12; ThinkProgress, 6/5/12; Las Vegas Sun, 6/5/12]

In 2012, Heller Introduced A “Watered-Down” Alternative To The Paycheck Fairness Act, Which Omitted Key Worker Protections. According to the Center for American Progress, Heller’s bill was a “weak, watered-down version of the Paycheck Fairness Act that omitted key provisions such as “competitive grants for negotiation-skills training programs for women and girls.” It’s penalties for employers who discriminate against women were comparatively “slight,” giving employers “little incentive to comply with current laws and mak[ing] pursuing legal action costly to workers who face discrimination.” The Las Vegas Sun reported that Heller’s Bill, called the End Pay Discrimination Through Information Act, would “prevent the government from collecting salary information and disbursing grants to help women better negotiate higher salaries.” Las Vegas Sun, [6/5/12; Center for American Progress, 6/11/12]

Heller Also Opposed The Lily Ledbetter Fair Pay Act

Heller Has Repeatedly Voted To Defund Planned Parenthood And Block Federal Tax Credits From Being Used On Private Abortion Coverage

Heller Voted To Defund Planned Parenthood In 2011 And 2015. According to a press release from Senator Heller's office, Heller "supported Representative Pence's amendment to prohibit funds from being made available for any purpose to Planned Parenthood or any of its affiliates" in February 2011. The press release also reported that Heller "supported invoking cloture on the motion to proceed to S.1881, Senators Ernst, Paul and Lankford's legislation (S.1881) to defund Planned Parenthood and transfer federal funding from this organization to other eligible entities such as state and local health departments, federally qualified community health centers, hospitals and others that provide health services to women" in September 2015. Heller Cited The Undercover Planned Parenthood Videos As A Reason To Defund Planned Parenthood: "I've Seen The Films Just Like Everybody Else... I Think It's Beyond The Pale That These Are The Activities Of Planned Parenthood. Heller continued, "As one of the more progressive Republicans on this particular issue, I think Planned Parenthood went way too far on this one." Heller also said he planned to vote to defund Planned Parenthood over the videos: "This has nothing to do with women's health and everything to do with the activities of Planned Parenthood." Heller Voted For The No Taxpayer Funding For Abortion Act In May 2011. The bill, for which all House Republicans voted, included provisions to ban D.C. from using public funds for abortions and to cut tax credits for small business that provide health insurance covering abortions. Despite Waffling When Under Pressure, Heller Has Repeatedly Emphasized His Support For Defunding Planned Parenthood

In February 2017, Heller Told A Town Hall "I Will Protect Planned Parenthood" And "I Have No Problems With Federal Funding For Planned Parenthood;" Before A Spokesperson Clarified That He Did Not Support Federal Funding For Planned Parenthood. The Las Vegas Review Journal described the town hall as "chaotic, boisterous" and "unfriendly." After Heller's town hall statements, Heller's spokeswoman Megan Taylor said, "Senator Heller has worked hard to improve women's access to health care and the quality of care they receive... While he doesn't have a problem with many of the health care services Planned Parenthood offers to women, he is opposed to providing federal funding to any organization that performs abortions and is supported by taxpayer dollars; he has a long record that reflects his position." Las Vegas Review-Journal, [4/20/17]

Heller Voted Against Defunding Planned Parenthood In September 2015, But His Spokesperson Emphasized It Was “Not A Real Vote.” Along with Senate Democrats and several other Republicans, Heller voted against a Senate spending bill that “would have averted a government shutdown” and “cut off funding for embattled women’s health group Planned Parenthood.” That day, Heller spokesperson Michawn Rich downplayed the significance of the vote: “Senator Heller’s record is clear on pro-life issues. He voted twice to defund Planned Parenthood and just this past week voted in support of the Pain Capable legislation...Today’s vote was not a real vote - it was another example of Congress continuing to kick the can down the road.” [Washington Post, 9/24/15, via Nexis; Senator Heller office press release, 9/24/15, via Nexis]

Heller Tried To Use A Loophole To Dismantle ACA Contraceptive Coverage

Heller Cosponsored The Allowing Greater Access To Safe And Effective Contraception Act, Which Would Have Allowed Over-The-Counter Contraceptive Access. In a statement, Heller said, “As a husband and father of two daughters, I don’t believe women should be restricted in their access to health care. That’s why I am pleased to join Senators Ayotte and Gardner in support of this legislation. Women should have greater access to safe, effective, and affordable contraception. Allowing routinely-used contraceptives to be available over-the-counter gives female patients more control over their health care decisions. And, that’s the way it should be.” [Senator Heller statement, 5/21/15, via Nexis]

Heller’s Bill Would Have Used An Affordable Care Act Loophole To Force Women To Pay Out-Of-Pocket For Contraceptive Coverage. As ThinkProgress reported: “The mandatory contraception coverage under Obamacare applies only to birth control that requires a prescription. So if this bill resulted in various forms of routine-use contraception being sold over the counter, they would not have to be covered by insurance. ThinkProgress, [5/21/15]

ACOG President DeFrancesco Called The Bill “A Giant Step In The Wrong Direction.” Dr. Mark S. DeFrancesco, president of the American Congress of Obstetricians and Gynecologists (ACOG) said The Allowing Greater Access To Safe And Effective Contraception Act “does not do much to increase access to contraception — and, in fact, includes details that will take a giant step in the wrong direction...instead of improving access, this bill would actually make more women have to pay for their birth control, and for some women, the cost would be prohibitive...We would welcome any legislation that would do what this proposal purports to do — help women. As it stands, however, we cannot support a plan that creates one route to access at the expense of another, more helpful route.” The Denver Post, [5/22/15]

Heller Sponsored Bipartisan Legislation To Support Pregnant Workers And Expand Access To Postpartum Depression Treatment

Heller Sponsored The Pregnant Workers Fairness Act In 2017 And 2015. Heller had sponsored a version of the bill in 2015, and reintroduced it in 2017 along with a bipartisan group of senators. In 2017, Heller said: “As a father of two daughters, I believe employers should provide reasonable accommodations for pregnant workers — not penalize them for being pregnant. Women are an integral part of our workforce, and this legislation recognizes that women's medical needs must be addressed without imposing an unnecessary burden on employer.” [Congressional Documents and Publications, 5/11/17, via Nexis; Senator Kelly Ayotte news release, 6/5/15, via Nexis]

Heller Introduced The Bringing Postpartum Depression Out Of The Shadows Act Of 2015. Heller introduced this bill along with Senators Gillibrand, Markey, and Ayotte. Heller said, “Nearly 1 in 8 women experience postpartum depression. Thousands of women across the country battle this condition every year, and this legislation assures that women are able to get the screening and treatment they need. The good news is with the proper resources and early diagnosis, 90 percent of mothers with PPD are successfully treated.” [U.S. Fed News, 11/19/15, via Nexis]

National Right To Life Supported Heller’s 2012 Campaign With Almost $20,000 In Independent Expenditures

Heller On Medicaid

Heller Supported Medicaid Cuts While In The House And Senate, Saying: “I’m Proud To Be The Only Member Of Congress Who Will Get To Vote For It Twice.” Heller first voted for Rep. Paul Ryan’s Medicaid-cutting budget in the House in April 2011 and then again in May 2011 after he was appointed to a Senate seat. He said: “I voted for it once. I’m not going to come over here and vote against it.” In the Senate, Heller also voted for a similar cuts proposed by Senator Pat Toomey. Both proposals would have cut Medicaid spending by turning Medicaid funding into block grants to states, which the CBO said “would most likely end up reducing benefits for those enrolled in the program.” The New York Times, [4/15/11, The Washington Post, 4/5/11, The Associated Press State & Local Wire, 5/3/11, via Nexis; Senate Vote 79, 5/25/11; The Morning Call, 7/17/17]

Heller Signed A Letter To The Republican Governors Association On Medicaid Reform. The letter proposed bringing together a “small roundtable of Governors” to discuss “the future of the Medicaid program.” It emphasized the “unsustainable” costs of Medicaid and aimed to begin the important dialogue regarding the future of the Medicaid program.” The senators wrote, “Even before the most recent expansion resulting from the Affordable Care Act (ACA), the Medicaid program was plagued by quality issues, states were stymied in their attempts to utilize innovative solutions to improve patient care, and both federal and state Medicaid spending was growing at unprecedented, and unsustainable levels.” Republicans from the Senate Finance Committee signed the letter: Senators Hatch, Grassley, Crapo, Roberts, Enzi, Cornyn, Thune, Burr, Isakson, Portman, Toomey, Coats, and Scott, in addition to Heller. Heller Is A Trump Supporter, But Isn't Always Willing To Admit It

Prior To The Election, Heller Refused To Take A Firm Stand: He “Vehemently” Opposed Trump, But Would “Give Him A Chance”

In December 2015, Heller Said, “I Do Not Support Trump” But Followed With “I Will Support The Nominee Of My Party, Some A Little More Enthusiastically Than Others.” Heller then said, Trump “will not be the nominee for the Republican Party.”Video: Washington Post, [12/14/15]

In May 2016, Heller Said He “Vehemently Oppose[d]” Trump. Heller said of Trump at the time, “I vehemently oppose our nominee and some of the comments and issues he brought up during the campaign” but would not say if he would absolutely not vote for him. Instead he said, “What I’m committing to is voting against Hillary Clinton.” According to NBC News 4, Heller pointed out that Nevada voters can select “none of these candidates” on their ballots, though he did not say if he would. Adam Laxalt (NW Gov)

Laxalt Signed Onto An Amicus Brief Supporting NIFLA In NIFLA v. Becerra. Laxalt supported NIFLA, a network of fake women’s health centers, through a 22-state coalition signing onto an amicus brief led by Texas Attorney General Ken Paxton. The brief aimed to defend “informed consent” laws governing abortion: “Approximately 29 states, including many of the amici States, have laws requiring a physician to provide certain information to a patient when obtaining informed consent to perform an abortion procedure. The Ninth Circuit treated these types of laws as similar to the California law at issue in this case, but the amici States write to clarify that these laws are significantly different in dispositive ways.” Brief for the State of Texas, et al., [1/16/18, via SCOTUSblog, The Nevada Independent, 3/21/18]

Great talk today with @AdamLaxalt today about the importance of life.

1:46 PM - 21 Feb 2018

Laxalt Attended The 11th Annual Friends For Life Dinner Hosted By The Pro-Life League Of Nevada And Gave Money To The Organization. In March 2017, Laxalt posted on Twitter and Facebook that he was “honored to be attending the 11th Annual Friends for Life dinner with my wife, Jaime!” On Facebook, he continued on to say, “Congratulations to Don Nelson, this year’s Champion for Life award recipient. Thank you Melissa Clement and the Pro-Life League of Nevada for another successful event!” Each post included a picture of the event. The Pro-Life League of Nevada advertised the event as “an evening with friends, old and new, in the pro-life movement.” Laxalt paid $150 to the Pro-Life League of Nevada on February 27, 2015. Laxalt categorized the expense as “other miscellaneous expenses.” Twitter.com, [3/4/17, Facebook.com, 3/4/17, Pro-Life League of Nevada, accessed 10/23/17, Nevada Secretary of State, 1/15/16]

News Outlets Have Referred To Laxalt As “Pro-Life” And “Against Abortion.” In a 2014 interview with Laxalt, National Review editor-at-large Kathryn Jean Lopez stated to Laxalt, “You’re pro-life and the father, along with your wife, of a young child.” Laxalt did not respond to the statement either way. In 2014, the Las Vegas Review-Journal reported that Laxalt “is against abortion” but that Laxalt said he would “follow the law.” [Las Vegas Review-Journal, 12/11/14, via Nexis, .]National Review, [2/24/14]

Laxalt Filed An Amicus Brief In Little Sisters Of The Poor V. Burwell. Laxalt filed the brief with the Supreme Court along with 19 other states. Laxalt said, “Religious organizations serve our communities in countless ways, and their contributions should be supported, not impeded by the government... organizations should not be fined for living in accordance with their sincerely held religious convictions. This brief encourages the Supreme Court to take the necessary steps toward ensuring that our government and our courts do not force people of faith to violate their religious beliefs.” In a statement, Laxalt described the Little Sisters of the Poor case: “The Little Sisters and co-petitioners sued the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services in response to the Affordable Care Act’s contraceptive mandate. The mandate requires religious nonprofits such as the Little Sisters to provide employees with all available forms of contraception at no cost." [Nevada Attorney General press release, 8/25/17, via Nexis]

Laxalt: "I Am Proud To Stand With The Little Sisters Of The Poor" In Their Lawsuit Against The HHS Contraceptive Mandate. Laxalt also said, "I am grateful for Ted Cruz's tireless leadership to protect the rights" of the Little Sisters of the Poor." Reno Gazette Journal, [2/22/16]

Laxalt Questioned Planned Parenthood's Nevada Clinics On The Type Of Abortions They Performed And Their Involvement With Fetal Tissue Donation. Laxalt sent a letter to Planned Parenthood stating "Please confirm in writing that the Nevada facilities do not provide surgical abortions. Moreover, please also confirm that the Nevada facilities do not have or participate in tissue donation programs and confirm to this office that PP's assertions are true in regards to the PP Nevada facilities." Laxalt opened the letter by citing videos from the anti-choice sting group Center for Medical Progress. Independent analysis, mainstream news outlets and many state investigations identified these videos as deceptive and cleared Planned Parenthood of any wrongdoing. Laxalt ended the letter asking Planned Parenthood officials "to meet to with him 'further discuss PP operations in Nevada.'" The Nevada Democratic Party Criticized Laxalt For "Using The Attorney General's Office To Push A Partisan Ideological Agenda." The Nevada Democratic Party stated, "Just like his frivolous immigration lawsuit earlier this year - the sole purpose of which was to tear families apart - Adam Laxalt is once again using the Attorney General's office to push a partisan ideological agenda. Nevada women who rely on the preventative health care services Planned Parenthood provides are not pawns to be used by Adam Laxalt to burnish his Republican primary credentials in his inevitable future runs for higher office. Adam Laxalt should stop using his office to advance his blind ambition and partisan, ideological agenda." Laxalt Closed His Inquiry Into Planned Parenthood. Laxalt's spokeswoman said, "After carefully reviewing baby tissue and body part donation concerns involving Planned Parenthood, on September 15, 2015, the Attorney General's Office sent a letter to Nevada's facilities inquiring about compliance with state and federal law. Subsequently, lawyers representing Planned Parenthood confirmed that Nevada's facilities do not participate in body tissue donation programs, and are in compliance with the law. The Attorney General's Office is satisfied with the response, and the inquiry is now closed." [RalstonFlash.com, 12/3/15, via Nexis]

Laxalt Hired Anti-Choice Lawyer Lawrence VanDyke As His Solicitor General. According to the New York Times, VanDyke "placed a special emphasis on writing amicus briefs supporting gun rights and anti-abortion laws" when he was previously solicitor general in Montana. With Montana Attorney General Tim Fox, VanDyke wrote a brief arguing in favor of twenty-week abortion bans and suggested that Roe v. Wade should be "revisited" due to "recent, compelling evidence of fetal pain." VanDyke was also a Blackstone fellow with Alliance for Defending Freedom, which "inspired a distinctly Christian worldview in every area of law." Laxalt advisor Robert Uithoven said, "Laxalt picked Lawrence because of his stellar resume, depth of directly on-point experience, and the fact that he came highly recommended by many who have had a chance to observe his work first-hand.” RalstonFlash.com, 12/10/14, via Nexis; Nevada Democratic Party press release, 12/10/14, via Nexis, Las Vegas Review-Journal, 12/11/14, via Nexis, New York Times, [11/2/14, Amicus Brief from the states of Ohio, Montana, and 14 other states in *Horne v. Fieler Was Also An SBA List Board Member And Opposed “Gay Relationships.” Fieler previously was a board member and donated “from $200,000 to $250,000” annually to the anti-gay marriage Institute for American Values, but left the board after they began to support gay marriage. Fieler said that there is “a very harmful myth about the gay lifestyle. It suggests that gay relationships lend themselves to monogamy, stability, health and parenting in the same way heterosexual relationships do. That’s not true.” New York Times, [1/29/13, New York Times, 1/29/13, Susan B. Anthony List 990, 2015, via Guidestar]

Sean Fieler’s Foundation Gave The Becket Fund, An Anti-Choice Legal Group, At Least $100,000 A Year From 2012 To 2015. The Mercers Were Also Major Supporters Of Trump's Presidential Campaign And Have Close Ties To Steve Bannon And Breitbart. Robert Mercer and his daughter Rebekah were major donors in the 2016 election and influential in the Trump campaign and White House. Rebekah took over the Mercer Family Foundation in 2008. The Wall Street Journal and The Atlantic reported that "two of the Mercer family's confidantes, Steve Bannon and Kellyanne Conway, were installed atop the Trump campaign following a recommendation from Ms. Mercer." In 2011, the Mercers "bought nearly 50% of Breitbart News for $10 million," after meetings with Andrew Breitbart and Steve Bannon. The Atlantic called Bannon the Mercers' "top political guru" and the New Yorker wrote that "as far back as 2012, Bannon was the Mercers' de-facto political advisor." The Wall Street Journal, [1/8/17, the Atlantic, 1/27/17, The New Yorker, 3/27/17]

The Mercer Family Funded Susan B. Anthony List Entities. Robert Mercer gave $500,000 to Women Speak Out PAC in 2014. The Mercer Family Foundation made a $300,000 donation to the "Susan B. Anthony Education Fund" in 2015. On The Mercer Family Foundation 990 form from 2015, the Susan B. Anthony Education Fund is listed at the same address as SBA List, 1200 New Hampshire Ave NW, Washington, DC. Charlotte Lozier Institute is often identified as the Susan B. Anthony List Education Fund. Guidestar, accessed [12/19/17, Mercer Family Foundation 990 form, 2015, via Guidestar, Center for Responsive Politics, accessed 4/22/16]

Foster Friess Donated $10,000 To Laxalt In December 2017. In 2012, Friess told Andrea Mitchell on MSNBC, "On this contraceptive thing, my Gosh it's such [sic] inexpensive...You know, back in my days, they'd use Bayer aspirin for contraceptives. The gals put it between their knees, and it wasn't that costly." Politico, [2/16/12, Nevada Secretary of State, accessed 4/2/18]

Laxalt Has Extensive Connections To Other Anti-Choice, Conservative Leaders

Laxalt's Morning In Nevada PAC Hosted An Annual Basque Fry Event Featuring Conservative, Anti-Choice Speakers. According to the Las Vegas Review-Journal, Laxalt and friends founded Morning in Nevada PAC in 2015 "to help fund conservative causes, candidates and organizations." The group's signature event is an annual Basque Fry. New Mexico Governor Susana Martinez, Nevada Rep. Mark Amodei, and American Conservative Union chairman Matt Schlapp spoke at the 2017 event. In 2016 speakers included Milwaukee County Sheriff David A. Clarke, U.S. Senator Tom Cotton, Ambassador John Bolton, and U.S. Congressman Joe Heck. In 2015, four Republican presidential candidates spoke at the event: Ted Cruz, Ben Carson, Scott Walker, and Carly Fiorina.
